FOREST PRESERVES FOR LAKE COUNTY.

Cook county has just added 349 acres to its forest preserves. The total is now over 25,000 acres, and more is to be added. This splendid develo northward stops at the Lake county line. Why should it? There are beauty spots that ought to be saved to the public in Lake county, but the county has not waked up to the idea. It will, in time, as Cook county did; and then it will pay for its neglect, as Cook county is doing now. The other day Cook county paid $1,000 an acre for land it could have taken when the outer park or forest preserve plan was first proposed for a fifth or perhaps a tenth of that sum. Lake county real estate is going up, too, and the county will have to pay eventually a good deal more for its preserve than Fat is a heat making food. Ounce for ounce, it makes nearly twice as much heat as does starch, sugar or lean meat. After eating fat the production of heat rises for six hours and then it begins to recede. That is one reason we instinctively avoid fats in hot weather.

The eating of fat spares the other tissues of the body which can be used to make heat, just as keeping plenty of oil in the lamp spares the wick. Respecially does fat in the diet spare the muscle and other lean tissues composed of proteid material.

If Chicago had an Anthracite Mine

If anthracite coal were discovered in Grant Park, there would be tremendous excitement over the city's luck in having good fuel close at hand. In reality, the city would be no more fortunate than it is now with a great coke plant on the south side, producing a Chicago Solvay Coke surpasses any other fuel in points of excel-lence. It is free from dust. It burns without smoke, soot or noxious gases. Ton for ton, Chicago Solvay Coke produces more heat than anthracite and is furthermore noticeably cheaper per ton.

Any fuel merchant in or near Chicago can fill your bins now with genuine Chicago Solvay Coke. Just be sure your delivery tickets read Chicago Solvay Coke. He will arrange with us to have a man call to show whoever tends your furnace how easy it is to handle Chicago Solvay Coke in your furnace. Read, too, our booklet—free upon request—"The Fuel Without a Fault." This winter have a cleaner home, cheaper fuel, more even heat—burn Chicago Solvay Coke.

A Cool Home on the Hottest Night

YOU know those nights when every room in your home feels like the inside of an oven.

Almost any price wouldn't be too high for a comfortable home on nights like these,

The secret of summer comfort these days is to insuate the walls and roof of your house so you can bottle up the cool night air and shut out the heat of the day. keeps in the heat from your furnace, which prevents heat loss and so effects remarkable fuel savings.

And the cost is returned to you in 3 to 5 years by the saving in your winter coal bills.

Insulation has always been used in the walls of cold storage plants and refrigerators. It has been used for years in the finest buildings. Only its cost has prevented architects and contractors from recommending it for every home.

Now the development of BALSAM-WOOL brings insulation within the reach of every builder.

BALSAM-WOOL is the new product made from clean, sanitary wood fibres. It is light and fleecy like wool. Tests made by nationally recognized authorities show it to be the most afficient commercial house insulating material on the market.

BALSAM-WOOL comes as a blanket between layers of asphalted paper. It is waterproof and fire-resistant-a ical insulating material. It is light in weight, flexible and easily applied. It is placed beneath the roof and within the outer walls of the house.

BALSAM-WOOL is making great records for comfort and fuel saving. It has but one cost—the first cost—and pays dividends in coal gaving spery year. It is a true Weyerhaeuser product, the maker's mark of personal responsibility is on every roll.

Ten minutes reading will give you the essential facts about BALSAM-WOOL and the methods of applying it. A booklet, "House Comfort That Pays for Itself," together with sample, will be furnished you by your dealer. If he has no more booklets write us direct.

A blanketing material for the walls, roofs and ceilings of houses. A heat insulator and a sound deadener. A fuel saver and a comfort and health factor that should be built into every house

BATTLE ROYAL O FOR FOREST JOBS N COUNTY BOARD

Democrats Hold 'Em and Rivals Want 'Em.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

battle array yesterday for a knock-in battle array yesterday for a knockdown and dragout fight. The cause is jobs. One side has them and the other side wants them. One will fight to keep them and the other will fight to get them.

The battle is scheduled to start tomorrow afternoon, for which a special meeting of the commissioners, as directure of the forest preserve has been called. The immediate objective is the pay roll of the preserve. It condists of 258 regular jobs, of which wenty-nine are laborers, and involves un aggregate annual pay roll of 1824,416.

Two Attorneys on Job.

Because of the preliminary skirmish weeks back, the preserve has two orneys. The majority of the board, Republicans, removed Adolph D. siner as attorney and appointed his istant, Charles H. Wells, to the ce. President Cermak vetoed the ion, elaiming the power of appointent. Both Weiner and Wells have m working, but neither has been d.

been working, but neither has been paid.

At the board meeting yesterday, four Republican members signed a recommendation to pay Weils "his pay roll of $837." Seven Republicans voted for the recommendation and five Democrats against it. President Cermak ruled that the recommendation was lost, "because it failed to obtain a majority, eight votes, of the board."

"The motion carried," declared Commissioner Miller.

"It did not," retorted President Cermak. "You cannot appropriate money without eight votes."

"That was not an appropriation," add Miller. "It only ordered payment out of appropriation already made."

"You don't mean to say eight votes are not required," said Cermak.

"That has always been the rule," said Miller. "I appeal from the decision of the chair."

"You won't get anywhere on that, because I won't sign the warrant," said Cermak.

Fight On Again Tomorrow. "The record shows seven for and five against," concluded Miller, "That will be sufficient."

will be sufficient."

"I move that the board (of forest preserve commissioners) adjourn to next Wednesday," said Commissioner Busse, although the board as county commissioners previously had informally agreed to adjourn to Sept. 6.

"What is that for," asked Mrs. Bemis, commissioner. "I have arranged to go out of town next Wednesday afternoon."

"For the transaction of business of mportance to the forest preserve," resplied Busse. Two roll calls were required to set the date, the five Democrats voting against and the seven Republicans for Wednesday.

It is an open secret that the Republicans claim that the Democrats have more than their share of the jobs of the preserve, and the Republicans plan to five enough Democrats tomorrow to give the Republicans the lien's share of the plums. ow to give the Republicans the lion's hare of the plums.

There is also a little friction on the country and poster of the plums.

$25,000 for Extra Jobs.

In considering county affairs proper jobs also played a big part.

Several weeks ago the commissioners declined to make an appropriation to continue the graft investigation by the attorney general. The thought of it caused some of the commissioners to throw up their hands in holy horror. They claimed it was illegal—and perhaps it was. But it was apparently legal yesterday to appropriate $15,000 to the county treasurer and the same amount to the county clerk for extra jobs. It was all right yesterday because the board did it.

The Ultimate Influence in Distribution

No better evidence of THE WORLD'S influence in the distribution of advertised on be advanced than the results of a careful survey of the wholesale and retail interests of the city. It was shown, for instance, that 72% of agers of wholesale grocery houses are WORLD readers, and 84% of the buyers ale drug homes and chain drugsture systems.

A Powerful Factor Among Department Store Buyers

It was shown by inquiry among department store buyers handling the more by advertised lines of merchandise that 81% of them read THE WORLD. important classifications among these buyers, who are keenly alert to any and created by newspaper advertising in New York, revealed the percentages wn in the graphs above.

Maximum Coverage Among Thousands of Retailers

There is hardly a channel of retail trade that is not fully served by THE WORLD. Especially is this true in those lines of business that are most strongly influenced by advertising. The deduction is obvious, that if THE WORLD reaches 72% of the Electrical Dealers of Greater New York, it will require the use of all the other swapapers of the city to cover the other 28%.

When $2% of the Clothing Dealers, 70% of the Shoe Dealers, 63% of the Hardre Dealers and 65% of the Furniture Dealers can be reached and influenced through ingle newspaper, the advertiser seeking distribution through their stores p paper's degree of efficiency, a combination of reader-influ

ne Threshold of an Active Buying Season

Let the experience of nineteen consecutive months guide your footsteps aright in entering America's greatest area of retail sales.

OR nineteen consecutive menths, THE WORLD has shown a steady, consistent gain in its advertising lineage. During twelve of these months, it stood first among all New York newspapers in the extent of its gains.

It closes the first seven months of this year with a gain of 1,028,893 lines, or 447,397 lines in excess of the gain of its nearest competitor in the morning field. THE WORLD'S increase was 33% of the combined gains of its field, and its six-days-a-week gain was more than the increase of all the other weekday morning papers combined.

There is a sound merchandising reason back of this record, just as there is a reason for THE WORLD'S own increase of 11% over its splendid record during the first seven months of last year.

And that reason lies in the unequalled coverage that THE WORLD gives the advertiser among the retail distributers of Greater New York-the shops. both large and small, through which the manufacturer must eventually reach his buying public.

Certain important phases of this dealer-influence are graphically set forth in the charts to the left, but only the advertiser who has used THE WORLD intelligently in merchandising this market knows the full extent of the power that THE WORLD exerts throughout the city's entire system of retail distribution.

Through no other medium can he purchase so close a co-ordination between the ultimate purchaser and the retail distributer of advertised merchandise.

New Yorkers each weekday morning buy nearly 100,000 more copies of THE WORLD than of any other standard-size newspaper in the city. Sunday, they buy more copies of THE WORLD than of the Times, Herald and Tribune combined. This applies to circulation directly within the City of New York, where it does the advertiser most good, where his biggest audience is concentrated, and where there are plenty of retailers to meet the demand he creates through advertising.

Weigh this vast circulation advantage with the tremendous dealer influence pictured in this advertisement and you have that well-nigh perfect advertising requisite the medium that kills two birds with one stone.

Joe Loveall, 22 years old, shortstop on a McAlester amateur team, playing yesterday at Savanna, Okia., was struck over the heart by a batted ball that took a bad bounce. Then he collapsed. When teammates reached him he was dead. The blow, physicians said, had paralyzed the muscles of his heart.

Sleeves seem to be the whole show in certain exhibits.

They tell of Mohammed's cutting off his sleeve rather than disturb Miss Tabby, asleep on it. Sleeves are getting like that again, we hear—and sometimes see. Also we are meeting those that go seven-eighths of the way up the arm and stop there for a bare space, wrinkled or plain like a long glove—we mean the sleeves.

A practical and easily copied manifestation of the new care given to sleeves, when they are worn at all, is supplied by today's sketch. We have a dull crepe dress—it might have been velvet, but it wasn't—straight of line, with practically nothing but the sleeve twins to make it exceptional. They are open, lined with white, and richly embroidered in green, yellow, old bine and magenta, then cartridge plaited to the frock, which extends a helping shoulder.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 .- [Spe ial.]—The counselor of the Japanese mbassy and Mme. Saburi, returned to me. So we tried but to no avail.

By this time the news had got abroad, and the young persons in the room were grinning broadly, while from the three stories above came shriek after shriek of uncontrolled laughter. Some wit suggested lining up all the girls in the house to see if I could pick out the right one. And then, just when I was trying to decide whether I could get out of the door or the window the quickest, a boy walked in on the scene and knowing the girl, straightened out the muddle for me.

All women know about the danger of these so-called permanent waves. Many women have paid dearly in money and experience only to learn that the waves were not permanent and that the method was often ruinous to their hair. But now science has brought forth a wonderful product which I call Curlette.

A few drops of this marvelous liquid used right with your old kid curlers—and behold!—long, straggly, unmanageable hair has been transformed into a veritable bower of waves and curls—to last a week and sometimes more. No work—no worry—practically no expense, for a bottle of this marvelous Curlette costs but One Dollar—and often lasts several months. NATIONAL RISCUTT COMPANY

With fuel acting as a lubricant, free from abrasive carbon, positive protection is assured pistons, valves, bearings and other vital parts. Smooth, silky operation is maintained indefinitely, undisturbed by trouble and repairs. Performance, likewise, is greatly improved. Slow speed, high speed, hill-climbing ability, are all materially benefited.

Though yielding hundreds of dollars annually in increased service and satisfaction, as well as lessened depreciation and repairs, Lubac actually entails no expense. Direct savings in fuel and oil more than repay its cost.

Put up in six-ounce cans, each sufficient to treat ten gallons, when poured into your tank. Sold by automobile dealers, accessory stores, independent filling stations and garages. Or phone us direct, giving your dealer's name. Price, 25c per can.
